

AUSTRIA STRIKES BY SEA AND AIR IN FIRST BLOW AGAINST ITALY

ADRIATIC TOWNS ARE BOMBARDED AND BOMBS DROPPED UPON VENICE

ROME, May 24.—The Italian fleet commanded by the Duke of Abruzzi engaged the Austrian fleet that bombarded Ancona early today. Three small Austrian boats have been sunk, according to unofficial reports reaching here tonight, and two captured.

Two British warships co-operated with the Italian fleet in the naval battle. The remainder of the Austrian fleet fled northward, the Anglo-Italian fleet pursuing the enemy's warships until they got under the guns of Pola.

ROME, May 24.—Austria's naval and air forces have struck the first blow in the Austro-Italian war. Official announcement this afternoon detailed a bombardment by an Austrian fleet off Ancona and several Adriatic coast towns. At about the same time Austrian aviators bombarded the Italian arsenal at Venice and the aeroplane hangars at Jesi.

Destroyers and torpedo boats participated in the naval raid on the east coast towns. The warships attempted to destroy the railway from Ancona to Porto Cosini, but official reports this afternoon said that only slight damage was done. The bombardment began at 4 a. m. and lasted two hours.

The warships then passed south, hurling shells at other coast towns. First dispatches to the war office reported the air raid on Venice and the "bombardment" of forts further south along the Adriatic, leaving the impression that these towns, too, had been attacked from the air.

With Italy formally at war with Austria, the government today issued a drastic decree, forbidding all civil and religious public meetings.

Cadorna in Charge
Gen. Cadorna, now enroute to the front, will assume direct charge of the operations of the entire army. It was early announced. Gen. Carlos Caneva probably will be designated as second in command.

Baron Von Machio, the Austrian ambassador, left Rome early today. The German ambassador, Prince Von Bulow, has received instructions from Berlin to leave Rome at once. An official manifesto, calling upon every citizen to do his duty, was spread broadcast in circulars issued today. It carried in large type the war cry:

"Viva Italia!"

Below these words were the following injunctions:

"From today every citizen forms a part of the national defense. All must have implicit faith in the government and the courage to obey orders without discussion."

Urges Sacrifice
"All citizens must show a readiness to make every sacrifice to insure victory for Italy. Let there be no hesitation or grumbling. Let everyone cut down on private expenditures and support our fighting forces. Let us give our all for our soldiers and their families."

Volunteer recruiting offices were opened early today and within a few hours 10,000 names were on the rolls. Crowds of Italian youths fought their way to the recruiting stations and offered their services. The government already has officers to drill the volunteers.

Fighting on Border
It is considered certain that hostilities already have begun at many points along the frontier where the opposing armies are in close contact. No official announcement has come from the war office. The report of a clash between invading Austrians and an Alpine patrol has been confirmed.

The Austrians have dynamited two bridges over the Adige, ten miles below Ala, in Austrian Tyrol. The town of Avis, near Ala, was destroyed yesterday for military purposes and many Italian residents fled across the frontier.

The Austrian frontier in the Trentino has been evacuated by its civilian population, the gendarmes and the forest keepers. The frontier patrols have fallen back along a line running near Ala, where the Austrians are reported concentrating. Civilians were ordered to remain indoors while Austrian troops marched through Trent on Sunday, according to advices reaching here early today.

Turkish Envoy Still at Rome
The Turkish ambassador to Italy was still in Rome today. It is rumored that the Italian ambassador to Constantinople is enroute to Athens.

HILL NEAR ARRAS TAKEN BY FRENCH IN BLOODY CHARGE

"Hill of Death" Stormed at Terrible Cost and 3,000 German Dead Greet Successful Force

GAS BOMBS PRECEDE YPRES CHARGE
Chlorine Sent Into British Trenches but Respirators Save the Defenders

PARIS, May 24.—An unnamed crest in the Lorette Hills, north of Arras, was today designated "The Hill of Death" in an "eye witness" statement given out at the war office.

Three thousand German bodies lay scattered about the slopes, when the French by a bayonet charge that will go down in history, captured the heights. Fragments of bodies, blood-spattered rocks and mangled corpses greeted the victorious French troops when they swept to the top of the hill after an almost ceaseless three months attack.

Capture of this crest, thought accomplished at a great loss to the French arms, removed a German menace against Arras. The hill commanded the roads leading to Arras.

Germans Charge After Gas Attack
Favored by a strong wind, the Germans sent a yellow cloud of chlorine gas rolling down upon the British trenches. The new respirators provided the English forces enabled them to remain in their entrenchments without great discomfort. A body of German troops that ran forward in a charge, expecting to find piles of dead bodies, was partly cut to pieces and retired in great disorder.

GREEK KING HAS SERIOUS OPERATION

ATHENS, May 24.—An official bulletin issued today said that the condition of King Constantine, seriously ill with pleurisy, is "somewhat improved."

Despite the reassuring bulletin, the king's condition, followed an operation yesterday, aroused apprehension in official circles today. Professor Friederich Kraus, the German specialist who attended the king at a previous illness, is enroute to Athens.

CAR BANDIT GETS CONDUCTOR'S MONEY AT POINT OF A GUN

North Side Closed Car Is Robbed by Bold Outlaw Who Calmly Rifles "Changer"

THIRTEENTH THEFT DESPERATE

Lone Woman Passenger Tells Story of Robbery to the Tribune; Screams for Help

Here's a panorama of crime that has hit La Crosse in the last twenty-four days. It represents almost every variety of thievery from burglary to highway robbery. The list of victims follows:

May 23, north side street car held up and conductor robbed of $18.

May 22, J. E. Higbee's car stolen from front of Gunderson residence in Ferry street, later abandoned. Dr. Edward Evans' car "borrowed."

May 20, John Cameron's automobile stolen from in front of Ten Cent Store. Recovered by police.

May 19, saloon of George Holzhammer, Mormon Coulee road entered and robbed of papers and small sum of money. Saloon of Robert Bartchenfeld, Fourth and Jay streets, entered but no cash found.

May 18, Mrs. Peter Dabroski, north side housewife, held up at back door and forced to deliver $15 at point of gun.

May 15, Stephen Gantert's residence burglarized. L. H. Martin's residence burglarized. Congressman Esch's residence burglarized. F. H. Burgess' residence burglarized. John Elliott's residence entered.

May 4, W. J. Smale's auto stolen from Justine garage.

The thirteenth and most daring of a series of robberies and burglaries in La Crosse in the last three weeks occurred last night when a masked bandit held up the last car going to the north side, at about half-past twelve, and at the point of his weapon separated the acting conductor of all the change in his changer, amounting to about $18. The robber escaped without injury. He was all alone.

The holdup occurred in Still street between Berlin and Caledonia street, just as the car had left Caledonia street. The stranger was masked and was the coolest person on the car. L. I. Buell, conductor, and Albert Streich, motorman, gave chase as he ran for a block, but as they were unarmed they followed no further as he seemed to halt in a dark spot, as if about to give fire.

Buell, the conductor, and the motorman had become tired of their positions and had changed places, the police say, so it was the motorman who was commanded by the bandit. The conductor at the controller, which is masked from the inside of the car by curtains, knew nothing of the affair until he heard Miss Myrtle Warner, 1529 Loomis street, the only passenger, scream. Then he stopped his car as quickly as possible, but when he got into the car the bandit was leaving, after having commanded Streich to open the door for him.

Girl Tells of Holdup

Miss Warner, who is employed at the Jefferson hotel, tells the story of the robbery graphically. "The man was not standing on the corner, but partly up the block," says Miss Warner. "The motorman stopped for him on the crossing, but we had to wait for the man to walk back. He carried a heavy suit case with two straps around it and wore a handkerchief about his neck. The car was again running swiftly."

"As the man hurried his grip under a seat, he stooped and drew the handkerchief over his face with one hand and a revolver with the other. The conductor turned to stare into its muzzle."

"Hold up your hands," he said quietly. The conductor said, "Quit your joking." "I mean it," warned the stranger, and in a second the conductor's hands were up and I screamed."

"Then the robber calmly emptied the conductor's changer, one coin at a time, using one hand, while he held the gun in the other. When he had completed this, he slapped the man's other pockets, picked up his grip and ordered the conductor to open the gates. Just then the motorman came in but the stranger was gone."

ITALY EXPECTS BIG INCREASE IN TERRITORY AS RESULT OF THE WAR

While the Italian government finds moral reasons for entering the European conflict, the world at large believes she is actuated solely by a desire to gain large additions of territory. According to the German imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Austrian concessions to Italy included the following:

First—Part of the Tyrol inhabited by Italians to be ceded to Italy (marked 1 on the map.)
Second—The western bank of the Isongo and the town of Gradisca to be ceded also (2.)

Third—Trieste was to be made an imperial free city, receiving an administration which would insure the Italian character of the city and to have an Italian university (3.)

Fourth—Italian sovereignty over Avlona (a seaport of Albania) and a sphere of interest belonging thereto, to be recognized (4.)

Fifth—Austria-Hungary declared her political disinterestedness regarding Albania (5.)

The concessions offered to Italy by the allies are said to include the following:
1. Annexation by Italy of the Trentino, Trieste, Istria, Pola, Fiume, Zara and the Dalmatian coast land as far as the River Larenta.
2. Annexation by Italy of the Cyclades Island and the Albanian port of Avlona.
3. Rectification of the eastern frontier of Tunis in favor of Italy.
4. Constitution of an independent Croatian State under the government of a prince acceptable to Italy.
5. Part of the Ottoman Empire.
6. Portions of the German colonies.

PACKERS AND COTTON MEN COMBINE TO ASK PROTEST TO BRITAIN

ORDER IN COUNCIL OPPOSED AS IT AFFECTS NEUTRALS

Would Ship to Neutral Countries Without Interference from British

BRITISH TRY TO FORCE COMPLIANCE

Ambassador Page Told to Inform London That Order Is Not Accepted by U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Wilson will be asked to take steps to secure the British order in council's suspension, so far as it affects American exports to neutral countries contiguous to Germany. The country's great packing industries are effecting a combination with the southern cotton interests. The aim is to secure concerted action, thus impressing the administration with an idea of the damage that is being done to American trade by the attempt of England and her allies to starve Germany out.

Stop U. S. Shipments

In order to do so, it is complained that England has practically stopped American shipments to the neutral Scandinavian countries, practically every vessel carrying either meat products or cotton to Scandinavia or Holland, having been held up on the high seas by British of French warships and taken into port. The owners of vessels and cargoes have been compelled to fight for their rights in the British prize courts and there have been delays that have caused them serious financial loss.

President Wilson is to be asked to demand, in the name of the United States that this be stopped. Representatives of the big packing houses are here on their way to appeal to him and confer with Senator Hoke Smith on plans for concerted action, Smith being the great cotton shipper's authorized representative.

Among the packers included are J. Ogden Armour, Gustavus S. Swift, Jr., Thomas E. Wilson, R. C. McManus, James Jacobson, H. J. Patton, Arthur Meeker and Alfred Urton.

Try to Make U. S. Accept Order
It developed today that, in the negotiations between the state department's trade advisers and Sir Richard Crawford, the British embassy representative, several attempts have been made to place the United States in the position of at least seeming

an hour, and turn over six times.

WAVE OF ANGER AT ITALIAN "TREACHERY" SWEEPS ALL GERMANY

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, May 24.—Germany today officially declared that a "state of war now exists between this country and Italy." Immediately after the announcement was issued telegraphic instructions were sent to the German ambassador at Rome to leave immediately. Similar messages were sent to German consular representatives in Italy.

BERLIN, via The Hague, May 24.—Italy today supplanted England, at least temporarily, as the object of German hatred. A wave of anger against what is in Berlin universally called "Italian treachery" was expressed in the German press.

"Germany will see to it that Italy gets the punishment she deserves, even at great losses to Germany," was the editorial comment of a Berlin paper.

Seize Teuton Ships.

ROME, May 24.—Eighty Austrian and German vessels in Italian ports, valued at $20,000,000, were ordered seized today. Among them are several of the finest vessels in the German merchant marine, interned at Genoa since the beginning of the European war.

Air Fleet Goes South.

GENEVA, May 24.—A German air fleet, made up of Zeppelins of the latest type, and a large number of Taubes, has joined a large body of German troops concentrated in the Adige valley, near the Italian frontier. The Zeppelins were sent directly from the dirigible factory at Friedrichshaven. The Germans, according to advices received here today, are equipped with heavy artillery for the bombardment of Italian forts guarding the Tyrolean passes.

Condemns New Foe.

VIENNA, via Amsterdam May 24.—Emperor Franz Josef today issued a manifesto, declaring Italy's declaration of war on Austria "the greatest act of perfidy the world has ever known." He called the Austrian army to a victory "over the treacherous army south of you."

The aged Franz Josef, at first grief stricken over the news that Italy actually had mobilized her troops, became enraged when the actual declaration of war reached here. Not since the assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne at Sarajevo has the emperor shown such strong emotion.

He called in secretaries and some of his advisers and personally supervised the drafting of the imperial manifesto. He wanted Italy held up to the scorn of the world, he said, as the vulture that hovered over the European battle field for sheer greed.

AMERICA URGED BY PRESIDENT

If Private Capital Won't Start Fleet Government Must, Wilson Tells Latin Americans

WASHINGTON, May 24.—With the expressed hope that the Americas may point the way to permanent world peace by showing a commercial rivalry that does not involve aggression, President Wilson welcomed the delegates to the Pan-American financial congress here today.

Probably the most significant utterance of the presidential address was this:

"One of the main things in our way is the physical lack of means of communication, the lack of vehicles, the lack of ships and established routes of trade."

"I am perfectly clear in my own judgment that if private capital cannot enter soon upon the venture of establishing these means of communication, the government must undertake to do so."

These words were received with a burst of applause from the delegates and from cabinet members on the platform with the speaker.

Secretary McAdoo presided and introduced the executive. A representative responded for each of the eighteen Latin-American countries.

From the outset of the gathering it was evident that extension of transportation lines will be one of the congress' chief topics of discussion.

MEMORIAL DAY

The front cover of the Magazine section of the New York Herald of May 30 is a picture in color entitled "Today." Liberty is shown as the central figure, and across her outstretched hands is draped the American flag, beneath the folds of which she welcomes Blue and Gray.

In a page story R. G. Conover points out that the rounding out of the fiftieth year since the close of the Civil War finds the North and South firmly cemented in all things, and a further point is made that eight of the most important offices in the United States are held by Southerners.

Philadelphia's most exclusive club will be the subject of another full page article. This club is unique, inasmuch as all applicants for membership must be without money, hope or a job, and the object of the club is to give the "down and out" another chance. The story is illustrated with interesting photographs.

GALESVILLE FIXES FAIR DATES TO BE FIRST OF SERIES

GALESVILLE, Wis., May 24.—(Special.)—Galesville will again this year put on the first of a series of five fairs in Wisconsin and Minnesota, which have banded in a "speed circuit." The fair will take place August 4, and will last for three days. The tri-county fair, Durand, Plainview and St. Charles will follow.

YEOMEN HAVE BIG TIME ON MAY DAY

On Thursday evening, May 20, the La Crosse Homestead No. 806 Brotherhood of American Yeomen held their meeting and Annual May Day exercises. As the month of May is set aside for the ladies in Yeomenry, the ladies had full charge of the ceremonies, conferring the full degree work on one of the largest class in the history of Yeomenry in La Crosse. The Hon. Mayor A. A. Bentley, was the candidate of the evening, and the work was carried through in an interesting manner.

MINE SINKS SWEDEN

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

WHOSE HAND?

BY VANE TREMAINE

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

When the subway train stopped at the Grand Central station, a crowd surged into the already well filled cars.

Jack Bronson gave up his seat and clung to a strap while he tried to read the morning paper. All around him were other men and women pressing closely as the train hurried swiftly through the underground passage.

There were the sound of rustling newspapers and the smell of rubber raincoats, for outside it was dripping dismally.

At Thirty-fourth street, when the car was unmercifully packed, Jack felt a tug at the pocket of his loose storm coat. His hand slipped down swiftly and closed on another hand, a soft satiny little hand, that struggled in his for a moment and then freed itself, leaving something metallic in his grasp.

Another man, tall like himself, pressed closely. He was bending down talking to a girl standing by him whose face Jack could not see.

Jack smiled grimly as he thought how chagrined would be the pick-pocket when he—or she—realized that instead of lifting a purse from his pocket the attempt had only resulted in leaving a clasp in his hands.

The train was slowing down at his station and he wormed his way out to the street, his unseen booty clasped in his hand. He did not once look at it until he had reached his office and opened his desk.

Then, with an odd sense of curiosity, he opened his clenched hand and looked at the ring which he had slipped from the intruding hand in his pocket.

It was well worth looking at, too—a woman's ring, a magnificent emerald, surrounded by brilliant.

"Good heavens!" gasped Jack, staring at the valuable jewel. "What have I done?"

Cool reflection told him that possibly he had been made a receptacle for stolen goods by a thief.

Perhaps, he reflected, some one had stolen it, and, closely tracked, had dropped it into his pocket. But it had not been dropped. The intruding hand had torn away from his grasp, leaving the emerald ring there.

What was the hand doing in his pocket, anyway?

He locked the ring in his safe and proceeded with the business of the day. Every morning he kept a close watch of the daily papers to see if the loss was advertised. But he found no hint of it.

Occasionally there came the recollection of that satiny little hand which had struggled with his in the crush of the car where all were wedged tightly like sheep in a pen. And the touch of that strange hand thrilled him persistently.

Jack Bronson was in love. If any one person was responsible for this fact it might be his sister, Fanny, who had invited him down to spend the week-end, and there introduced him to Alice Selden.

Miss Selden was a wonderful girl. Jack had discovered almost immediately. She was the only girl he had ever met whom he could really picture as his wife.

They got on together remarkably well, too. They enjoyed the same sports, the same books, the same pictures—practically the same everything.

"You never wear any rings," he said as they sat together on the beach.

Alice looked down at her little tanned fingers and shook her dainty head.

"I used to wear—one," she said rather pensively.

"Which—which finger?"

He felt an amazing sense of relief when she told him she wore it on the little finger of her right hand.

"It was a darling ring," she said regretfully, "and to punish myself for losing it I have vowed not to wear another any ring at all," quavered Jack, who had been dreaming of placing an engagement ring on her pretty hand.

"No," she said firmly, and her cheeks flushed. "I love rings, too."

"You lost it?" hazarded Jack.

"It was stolen."

"I'm something of a detective," he said. "Suppose I try to help you recover your ring?"

"You are very kind," she murmured politely.

"I want to free you from your rash vow. I want to make it possible for you to indulge in at least one ring," he said earnestly.

Alice blushed again, for there was no mistaking his meaning.

"I might begin with the pawnshops," he said. "What sort of ring was it?"

"A cluster ring, an emerald surrounded by diamonds. Father gave it to me on my last birthday."

Jack started violently. An emerald cluster ring?

"The house was robbed?" he questioned.

"No. I lost it in the subway. It was rather an odd affair—if you don't mind, I'd rather not talk about it any more."

Then he proceeded to change the subject.

When Jack was once more alone he gave himself up to what he meant to be a keen analysis of the situation.

He had torn a ring from a hand which had invaded his pocket in the subway—an emerald and diamond ring. It had all happened so quickly—all in a breath—that when he turned to survey which of his neigh-ability to live without her.

When she, in turn, confessed that his swift wooing had won her heart, he would have slipped a blazing solitaire on her finger, but she drew her hand away hastily.

"My vow, you know," she reminded him.

"Close your eyes," he almost sharply commanded. When he saw she had obeyed him he took the emerald ring from his pocket and slipped it on the little finger of her right hand.

At its touch Alice uttered a cry, and with wide open eyes stared fixedly at the ring.

"It's mine, Jack—my ring," she cried amazedly. "Where did you get it?"

"I found it in my pocket."

"In your pocket? How absurd! Please tell me what you mean," she went on nervously.

Then, with a grave look in his eyes he told her all, wondering if she, too, recognized the amazing hand of fate that had interwoven the threads of their destinies in such a mysterious fashion.

Her face was a study in surprise, embarrassment and joy.

"What was your hand doing in my pocket?" he asked, breaking the silence.

She laughed relievedly.

"Now I can tell you, Jack. I was with my brother, Arthur. The car was crowded and we were standing. I felt faint and put my hand, as I thought, into Arthur's pocket to get my little handbag. I had slipped it in there for safe keeping. The pocket was empty and I was just going to speak to Arthur about it when a man's hand gripped mine. I managed to get my hand away, but my ring remained in his pocket.

"Of course I did not dare make a fuss because the stranger could face me and accuse me of having my hand in his pocket, and so I let it go. I did not dare advertise for it.

"I often wondered which of the men around us had struggled with my hand, and to think it should have been you!"

"Why not?"

"Because the memory of his hand clutching mine was not unpleasant—it was such a strong, masterful grasp! It seems too good to be true."

"Most perfect happiness is!" he said, holding her close to his heart.

THE CASE OF

LEO M. FRANK

Interesting indeed is Mr. Gus

Hundredmark's account, in this paper, of a visit to Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of little Mary

Phagan, in Atlanta.

Mr. Hundredmark starts out with the statement that he is "not a Jew", in order to show that his judgment has no religious bias.

Many people in La Crosse know Mr.

Hundredmark for a level headed,

unemotional man whose judgment is of a reliable character. That an hour in the cell with Frank convinced him that a legal crime is being committed should mean more to

La Crosse people than even newspaper verdicts written by able journalistic investigators.

The interest of the Jews in the

Frank case has its sentimental side,

but it has also its appeal to honor.

It is said that but one orthodox Jew

has been convicted of murder in the United States, and they do not want

this splendid record stained by the blackening of Frank, although if there were evidence to justify his conviction they would be the first to demand his punishment.

A. M. Goldish, who is giving his time to managing the Frank petitions, deserves the consideration of La Crosse people. No people take so good care of their own needy as

do the Jews, and their eleemosynary

institutions make substantial calls

upon them. Not only does Mr. Gold-

do his full share for his own race

FRANK INNOCENT THE CONVICTION OF GUS HUNDREDMARK

Caledonia Citizen Known in La Crosse Visits Atlanta
Victim of Legal Crime
in His Cell

(By Gus Hundredmark.)

I am not a Jew.
I never heard of Leo M. Frank until I read his name in the story of the murder of little Mary Phagan.

Although I had read the newspaper accounts from time to time, I formed no definite opinion from them regarding the merits of the case.

I visited Frank in his cell last month. I spent an hour with him, and I came out of that prison morally convinced that Leo M. Frank is an innocent man.

Laying aside the character of the evidence upon which he was convicted, I do not think any unprejudiced man can find Frank for half an hour, across a table, without knowing in his heart that the man did not and could not murder a child.

It wasn't the evidence, it wasn't the jury, it wasn't the court that convicted Frank. It was mob terrorism. Although it is subsiding, the blood lust with which he has been hunted is in Atlanta today. I verily believe that the jurors knew that any one of them who stood out for Frank would be lynched. The day I was there the supreme court of the United States refused Frank relief. One local paper sold fifteen thousand extras.

Story of Crime is Told

However, it is still the mob. I made diligent inquiry, and found that the better class of people do not join in the clamor for Frank's life. They do not dare say much or do anything, but they have opinions running from belief in his innocence to the conviction that he was not rightly convicted and should be given a chance.

The story of the crime is well known, and a brief recapitulation will serve. Frank was superintendent of a lead pencil factory at Atlanta, which employed a number of girls. They ran short of lead and some of the girls were laid off for a few days. One of them, Mary Phagan, a girl of about fifteen years of age, living in a rural district, came to the factory on Saturday afternoon to ask if she could go to work on Monday and to collect $1.60 which was due her.

Convicted on Negro's Word
The next morning her mutilated body was found in the basement of the factory by a colored watchman who was employed there. Immediately the police suspected and arrested a low type of a "nigger" (as they call them in the south) by the name of Tom Conley, who was employed at the factory as janitor and who was known to have been there at the time the girl met her death. Conley said Leo Frank had killed the girl and had hired him to take the body to the basement and burn it in the furnace, but that he (Conley) became frightened after getting it to the basement and left it on the floor.

Conley told conflicting stories, repeatedly contradicting himself, but despite the straight story of Frank the hysterical populace demanded his life. Frank was arrested and tried. The trial judge advised the accused and his counsel not to be present when the jury brought in their verdict as in case it should be for acquittal their lives would be in danger, for a howling mob of about 5,000 roughs of the lower element, mostly from out of town, were gathered around the court house ready and anxious to lynch Frank, the jury and counsel if the jury should vote for acquittal or should even disagree.

Following the bent of the mob, the prosecutor made his appeal directly to prejudice and vengeance, and a terrified jury convicted Frank on evidence which should not hang a dog. Under these circumstances could Frank get a fair trial?

Now the question may be asked, why were those people so enraged at Frank?

Negro Hanging Wouldn't Satisfy
My opinion is this: Here was an unprintable and revolting crime, and to hang a degenerate negro would not be much satisfaction, as that is such a common occurrence in the south. The Jew was a bigger morsel for a blood lust that would not be satisfied with anything so ordinary as the burning of a negro.

The negro saw his chance. The logical course for him to pursue to save his own neck was to accuse Leo Frank, and he seized it. Conley's was the only direct evidence against Frank, all the rest being circumstantial, so you can understand this unfortunate young man's predicament.

Since much of the bitter feeling that exists against Frank in Atlanta at the time of his trial, about two years ago, has subsided, Governor Slayton will not run the risk that the jury did at the time of the trial, should he commute the sentence or if he thinks Frank innocent, even granting a pardon.

Urges All to Sign

In conclusion, I want to say that feeling in Atlanta will further improve. The better class of citizens there are largely in the majority; nowhere did we receive better or more courteous treatment in our five months' tour of the south. These good people are more and more placing their influence on the side of justice.

If you have a petition please send me one, for I would like to sign it and get as many more signatures in Caledonia as I can. I want to do this because I sincerely believe Frank is innocent of that fiendish crime. I could not help being deeply moved by the fortitude of this young man, who thoroughly realizing his precarious situation, yet bravely believed that he would be vindicated before that gruesome instrument of death, the gallows, (which was only a few feet away from where we were talking) should send him into eternity. To every citizen who believes in a

SYRIAN WEDDING IS BIG AFFAIR ON THE NORTH SIDE

Rev. Elijah Hamati of Cedar Falls Officiates when Miss Haddad Weds
Nicola Markos

Miss Ida Haddad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nimmer Haddad, 900 Mill street, and Nicola Markos of La Crosse, were married at four o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Elias' Syrian Orthodox church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elijah Hamati of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who is here on a visit for a few days.

The wedding was one of the largest ever celebrated by the Syrians of the North side. The church was filled to overflowing and the festivities afterward at the home of the parents of the bride were such as not to be forgotten by those present. The couple was attended by Miss Saleema Markos, sister of the groom, and Nasseeb Michel. Mr. and Mrs. Markos will live in La Crosse.

Special Services Now on Services with mass from nine o'clock until noon yesterday marked the beginning of Rev. Hamati's visit in La Crosse. The church was crowded.

Baptismal rites for George, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Skaff, 818 Mill street, were performed at 11 o'clock this forenoon by Rev. Hamati.

On account of the other activities of the congregation during the last few days, the proposed meeting of yesterday, called for consideration of the establishment of a Sunday school, has been postponed to some time this week. Rev. Hamati is strongly in favor of the plan and has promised his good offices to the people in their attempt to provide religious education for their children.

INHERITED NERVOUSNESS

The causes of nervous disorders are of two kinds, predisposing and exciting. Heredity is a predisposing cause. A nervous parent is very liable to have a nervous child. But even with this predisposition the child will not necessarily develop any form of nervous disease without an exciting cause. It may not develop during childhood at all but throughout life a person with an inherited predisposition to nervousness is an easier victim of all forms of nervous disorders than one without it.

Worry, overwork, overstudy and excesses of all kinds are exciting causes and should be avoided by those who know themselves to have inherited a nervous disposition. Thin blood and a general run-down condition of the system are also to be avoided by such people. Be moderate in everything, avoid worry, keep the blood rich and red and the general health built up with a non-alcoholic tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and avoid a nervous breakdown.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a general tonic with a special action on the nerves and relieve and correct many forms of nervous trouble. Your own druggist sells them. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment."

POSTAL SAVINGS GROWING HERE DESPITE WARTIME

Report of Postmaster Skaar Shows There Are Now 180 Accounts Here Aggregating $10,263

In the four years in which the postal savings bank has been in operation at the local postoffice, there have been 180 depositors. At the present time there is a deposit of $10,263.00 to the credit of 54 depositors, 17 of them being of foreign birth. Of the total number of depositors there are nine non-residents, that is, not patrons of the La Crosse postoffice, but who come to La Crosse and deposit their money or send it in by money order or registered mail.

There are twelve depositors who have deposited the maximum amount allowed, namely $500. Depositors are not allowed to deposit more than $100 in any one month nor are they allowed to have more than $500 on deposit at any one time.

Government Bonds Issued
Bonds are issued every six months, the first of January and the first of July, but must be applied for before the first of December or the first of June and are issued in sums of $20 or any multiple of $20 up to and including $500. They are redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from the date of their issue and payable 20 years from that date, both principal and interest being payable in United States gold coin. They are also exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority. Postal savings bonds bear interest at the rate of 2½ per cent payable semi-annually and Postal savings deposits bear interest at the rate of 2 per cent annually. When a depositor who has $500 to his credit, has applied for bonds he can again begin another deposit with $500 as the maximum. There is no limit to the number of bonds a depositor may acquire.

Even Children May Deposit
Every person in the United States ten years old or over may open an account in a postal savings bank before July 1, according to an instructive leaflet on the postal savings system just issued by Postmaster General Burleson. This important extension of the service will be made possible by permitting persons living in communities so sparsely settled as not to justify the designation of their local postoffices as regular postal savings banks to open accounts by mail.

Governor Dockery, third assistant postmaster general, who has direct supervision of postal savings, was so impressed by appeals from all over the country to open postal savings accounts by mail that he took up the task some weeks ago of working out a feasible and safe method for meeting a demand well illustrated in a letter from a Saline county Missourian, who resides many miles from a postal savings bank.

"Having a few hundred dollars saved from fifty years of hard and assiduous labor and skimping economy on the part of my wife and myself, we concluded to deposit it in the postal savings bank of —. We wrote to the postmaster at that place and received reply to the effect that none but patrons of that office could deposit in that office which is very disappointing news to us. Our little farm is not large enough to support us and land is so high that it is impossible for us to buy more with what little we have saved and we are so old that we can't labor much now and we would be so glad to lay by at least enough to put us away in decency."

Wives Need Not Tell Husbands
Under the plan adopted by the postmaster general for opening accounts by mail an intending depositor, residing where there is no regularly designated postal savings bank, will apply to his local postmaster, who will see that necessary identification data is prepared and forwarded to a nearby postoffice authorized to accept deposits. The intending depositor will then be given permission to forward his first and subsequent deposits by money order or registered mail direct to the postmaster at the banking point for which receipts or certificates will be issued. He may withdraw all or any part of his postal savings by mail and on demand together with any interest that may be due him.

The new leaflet points out that any person ten years old or over may open an account in his or her own name; that an account may be opened by a married woman free from

The tracts consist of about one acre of land each, with

ITCHY SALT RHEUM

Sometimes Called Eczema—Removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Salt rheum is one of the worst and most common of all diseases. How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales, and then does this all over again! Sometimes it covers the whole body with inflamed, burning patches and causes intense suffering, which is commonly worse at night.

Local applications may do some good, but they cannot permanently relieve. The disease will continue to annoy, pain and perhaps agonize, until the blood has been purified and the general health improved.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, the good old reliable family remedy. It has given perfect satisfaction in thousands of cases. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla, for no substitute acts like it. Get it today.

TURK GUNBOAT TORPEDO VICTIM

Vessel Built in 1890 at Kiel
Goes Down in the Dardanelles with 109
of Crew

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Amsterdam, May 24.—The Turkish torpedo gunboat Peldokk-i-Deria was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine last night, it was announced officially today. All of the crew of 111 but two were saved.

The first announcement from the war office did not state where the torpedo went down. It is presumed it was torpedoed inside the Dardanelles.

The Peldokk-i-Deria was built in 1890 at Kiel.

Two Autos Stolen

J. E. Higbee's big six passenger automobile was left for a short time
in front of the residence of Dr. A.
Gunderson, near Thirteenth and Perry streets, last night when it was stolen. The car thief didn't quite understand how to run it, however,
for he drove it on the storage battery instead of magneto, with the result that he abandoned it when the battery gave out at Seventeenth and Market streets, where police found it.

Dr. Edward Evans left his automobile in front of his home in South Thirteenth street. It was taken off by "Joy riders" who drove it until late at night when it returned with a broken tire and other mishaps
which made it undesirable for "Joy
riding" purposes.

Comes from Minneapolis
According to advices from Minneapolis, it is evident the street car
bandit came directly to La Crosse
from the Twin cities. Two robberies of exactly the same type were perpetrated in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul. There the street car men at night carry arms.

TWO TRIPS IN WEEK ON MADISON CALLS BENEZET'S RECORD

Superintendent L. P. Benezet left for Madison today where he will appear before the state board of normal regents and principals which is holding a session there. Mr. Benezet and other superintendents are called to Madison to offer advice and information.

This is the second time in the last week Mr. Benezet has been to Madison on business, having just returned from a meeting of the board of control of the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic athletic association.

MANY GO WEST TO FRISCO MEET AND WORLD FAIR

Dr. Jens Rosholt and Party,
H. G. Magelssen and Party and Others
Take Special Train

Dr. Jens Rosholt and his sister,
Miss Mabel Rosholt, and the Misses Hilda and Anna Berrum left at noon today over the Burlington for San Francisco. They were to join the special train from Decorah, Ia., which is carrying a number of people from that town as well as the Luther college band, which has appeared in La Crosse twice. The party will attend the national convention of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America at San Francisco.

Leaving tonight for California
will be Rev. H. G. Magelssen, La Crosse; Rev. N. S. Hagelssen, Rush-
ford; Rev. and Mrs. Christian Hjertstad, New Lisbon; Rev. and Mrs. H. Halvorsen, Westby; Rev. C.
B. Bestul, Etrick; Mr. and Mrs. P.
Abrahamson, Lakesboro, and K. T.
Thompson, Houston.

Rev. J. Norby, bishop of the eastern district of the Norwegian Lutheran church, recently removed here from Lee, Ill., will occupy the pulpit of the Norwegian Lutheran church, Sixth and Division streets,
during the absence of Rev. Mr. Magelssen.

ADRIATIC TOWNS ARE BOMBARDED

Constantinople, Marquis Di Geroni,
and his staff have received their passports and are enroute to Rome.
The cabinet was again in session
today, drafting several proclamations to the people and taking the final steps before the Italian army hurries itself against the Austrian border.
Automobiles were constantly arriving at the war office, but an air of utter calm prevailed there, in contrast to the scene in the street below,
where cheering crowds continued to march in great demonstrations.

Heavy police guards were placed about German hotels and shops, but this far there have been no disturbances. The Italian press has been unanimous in demanding that the people of Italy set an example to other European countries by refraining from demonstrations against enemy civilians. The injunction has had good effect.

American Hospital On Scene

Genoa dispatches today said that an American hospital unit had arrived there enroute to Budapest, but probably would change its plans and attach itself to the Italian Red Cross.
The Red Cross began mobilizing its forces yesterday and will send its corps northward tomorrow. The offices of the society today were overwhelmed with offers of women, many of them of noble birth, who volunteered service in the field as nurses.
All the royal princes holding commands in the army joined their regiments today.

The king, it is reported, will leave for the front within a few days and establish a headquarters near the battle line, spending a large part of his time in the field.

Mountain Passes Strong

Reports that the Austrians and Germans are bringing up heavy guns
and preparing to force the mountain
passes leading into northern Italy,
aroused no great apprehension here today. The Austro-Germans, it was pointed out, will encounter great natural fortresses, hewn out of solid rock, and believed to be impregnable, bristling with great guns. The difficulties experienced by the Russians
in their attempts to pierce the Carpathians, military experts said today,
will be incomparable to the tremendous obstacles to be faced by an Austro-German army of invasion.

No early clash of naval forces is expected here. It is the popular belief that the Austrian fleet will remain in its present position behind
the mine fields near Pola, sending out submarines and destroyers to attack the Italian squadrons. Two German submarines of the latest type
are reported to have been transported to Pola several weeks ago. It is expected they will be used to harassage merchant shipping in the Adriatic
in the same manner in which submarines have been employed around the British isles.

OTTO ALBRECHT HURT WHEN CYCLE SKIDS ON CURVE

Otto Albrecht, 1117 Market street, is a patient at Grandview
hospital as the result of "bitting it up" on a motorcycle at the fair grounds race track yesterday afternoon. Albrecht and several other young men were practicing speed
when Albrecht's machine slipped on a damp curve. Albrecht sustained a broken collar bone, William J. Fitzpatrick, photographer, picked him up and carried him to the hospital in the side car of his motorcycle.

DENIES AGENCY CLOSING

C. F. Michel of the C. and J. Michel Brewing company today denied a story printed Saturday to the effect
that as the result of a "dry" election victory at Moorhead, Minn., the Michel Brewing company agency
there would be closed. Mr. Michel declared that the Michel Brewing company maintains no branch at Moorhead and was not affected by the election in that city.

ART WORKERS MEET

The Art Workers' class will meet
at the public library tomorrow night.
As the library closes at 9 o'clock,
members are asked to be on hand
promptly at 7 o'clock.

TELESCRIBE KEEPS RECORD OF PHONE CONVERSATIONS

WEST ORANGE, N. J.,
May 24.—Thomas A. Edison, the 68-year-old wizard inventor, has perfected the telecribe, a combination of telephone and phonograph.
By it a telephone conversation may be perfectly recorded at both ends of the wire, giving each party a phonographic record of what has been said.
Its chief use, Edison declared today, will be in commercial circles, for the telescribe will do away with many millions of letters a year that are now sent in confirmation of business
telephone conversations.

GOVERNOR PHILIPP HAS A BUSY WEEK

MADISON, Wis., May 24.—Gov.
Philipp will spend a busy week.
He is preparing two additional messages, receiving callers, giving his share of attention to matters of legislation, and in his spare moments
writing down a few thoughts which he will use in his address at Shebo-yan next Saturday.

The chambers of commerce of the state have started a movement to make May 29 Wisconsin day, in honor of the state's admission to the union on that date in 1848.
Many of the petitions of the boards
asked the governor to issue a proclamation and there have been many suggestions that a bill be offered in the legislature designating the day
as a holiday.

One week from today, the governor will deliver the memorial address at Madison. He had many invitations to speak in other cities, but because of the session of the legislature selected Madison, because it would be of little inconvenience to him.

MENACE CASE GOES OVER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 24.—Illness of one of the old defendants,
and illness of the wife of another,
secured a continuance in the federal court today of the government's case against the Menace, an anti-Catholic publication. The publishers are charged with sending obscene matter
through the mails. Judge Van Valkenburg has set the case for September.

MOB ATTACKS CONSULATE

VIENNA, May 24.—An Austrian mob today attacked the Italian con-sulate at Trieste, but was driven off by the police. Trieste was decked with flags and a series of street
demonstrations followed word that Italy has declared war.

to have accepted the order in council's provisions. Although the British foreign office's original note, offering free passage to all American goods bought in Germany and paid
for before March 1 had no time limit
in it, the British foreign office, on May 17, sent a peremptory cablegram to the embassy here, stating June 1 as the limit beyond which American owned goods, if purchased in Germany, would not be permitted free passage on the high seas even in neutral bottoms. At the embassy's request, this time limit—which had never been asked for or recognized by the United States—was extended to June 15 but was coupled with a demand that the state department officially agree to it. Instead,
the state department simply affirmed
its original opposition to the order
in council and broke off all unofficial negotiations.

May Ellicit Delayed Reply

Ambassador Page has been instructed to tell the British foreign office that the facts in no way bear out its declaration that the United States has accepted the British admiralty's plans. It is deemed possible that as a result of this the British government may now send forward its delayed reply to the American note refusing to agree to the order in council's restrictions.

There will be no further action,
however, by this government until
the German situation is cleared up.
The Italian crisis is expected to result in further delay but officials were hopeful today that the reply would be in the president's hands by the latter part of this week.

ALLIED TROOPS AT DARDANELLES NOW NUMBER 90,000

Anglo-French Expedition Is Reinforced by Men from Several Newly Arrived Transports

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 24.—An official statement issued here today
said that the Anglo-French troops
at the Dardanelles have been reinforced by the arrival of several transports off the entrance to the strait. It is estimated that the allied expeditionary forces now number 90,000.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

State of Wisconsin, County Court,
La Crosse County, ss.—In Probate.
Notice is hereby given that at a special term of the County Court, to

The application of A. A. Schroeder, administrator of the estate of John Schroeder, late of the City of La Crosse, in said County of La Crosse, deceased, for the adjustment, settlement and allowance of his final account as said administrator, and for the assignment of the residue of the estate of said deceased to such persons as are entitled to the same.

By order of the Court,
JOHN BRINDLEY, County Judge.
J. E. HIGBEE,
Attorney for the Administrator.

LACROSSE REACHES HELPING HAND TO POLISH SUFFERERS

Congressman Esch, Mrs. W.
R. Finch and Dr. H. E.
Wolf Speak at Joint Service

DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS THERE

Poles Fight Own Flesh and Blood; Thousand Churches and 1,500 Villages Are Totally Destroyed

Picturing in the deepest of feeling
the deplorable conditions existing in Poland and Serbia as the direct result of the European war, three speakers last night at the First Methodist church called on La Crosse people for aid to these countries. The speakers were Dr. H. E. Wolf, Mr.
W. R. Finch and Hon. John J. Esch.
The service was a union meeting of the First Congregational, First Baptist, First Presbyterian and First Methodist churches, called for aiding in the immediate relief of the war sufferers. The collection taken at the service will be turned over to the American Red Cross.

"This is not a time to consider the causes of the war. We wish to concentrate attention to two areas of the war zone—Serbia and Poland,"
said Mr. Esch.

"Dynamite Box of Europe"

"The Balkan peninsula has often been called the dynamite box of Europe and Serbia has been appropriately called its percussion cap," Mr.
Esch said. He spoke of the deep feeling of nationalism of the little country. The nation, he said, which con-

tures Terrible Sufferings in Polish War Zone.

tains about four millions of people
in an area half the size of the state of Wisconsin, engenders a deep sense of its place among the countries of Europe. Its people, he said, are proud and intelligent. Their nationalism and pride, he said, are about to be wiped out by the ravages of disease if aid is not forthcoming from non-belligerent countries of the world, of which the United States is the largest.

"Poland," the speaker explained,
"is fighting against its own flesh
and blood, the result of the partition
of the great nation of Poland in the treaty of Vienna in 1814. Russian Poles are pitted against Galician and German Poles."

Mrs. W. R. Finch, president of the Twentieth Century club, reviewed the conditions in the two countries
and the steps taken by this country
for relief.

In Poland alone, she said, 15,000
villages and 1,000 churches have been destroyed, producing a condition of extreme demoralization and suffering.

Women and children, she said, are absolutely without homes and are dying at a frightful rate from ex-posure and lack of food. Nine out of ten provinces, she explained, have been overrun by armies, everything being destroyed with no hope at the present of restoration.

Dr. Wolf reviewed the disease conditions in Serbia, said people are dying at an awful rate from the typhus plague as well as from smallpox, although the latter disease is controlled to a large extent by vaccination. The country is open to infection from the east, he said, and
at home has conditions such as impure water supply and poor sanitation to contend with.

Asiatic cholera, the most dreadful
of plagues, threatens the country,
unless aid reaches it immediately,
declared Dr. Wolf.

A generous sum was raised.

ROBBEY STEALS LAYETTE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24.
—A new brand of robber,
the stork thief, began operations here today. Mrs. A.
W. Brandt had packed all her lingerie, big and little, for a visit to a maternity hospital, and
had them waiting in the front room.
When no one was looking, in walked Mr. Stork-thief and took every blessed thing. Diamonds and money lying around handy were left untouched.

GERMANS CLOSING IN ON PRZEMYSL FROM THE SOUTH

Mackenzien's Right Wing
Drives Russian Line Back
Twenty-two Miles South of the Fortress

PETROGRAD, May 24.—Beaten
back in their attempt to descend upon Przemysl from the north, the Austro-Germans are smashing vigorously against the Russian lines to the south.

An official statement from the war office today admitted that General Mackenzien's right wing drove back the Russian line twenty-two miles south of Przemysl, near Chyrof, in a bloody engagement. The Russians hurled reinforcements into a counter-attack, regaining the lost ground and taking several hundred prisoners.

PERVERTER OUT AFTER SHORT STAY IN COUNTY JAIL

Wellington Bell, former employe of the La Crosse Plow works, will be released Friday from county jail
when he will have completed a six months' term.

Bell was given the "limit" on a charge of having aided the moral delinquency of a La Crosse boy.
Chief of Police John B. Webber produced a list of more than thirty names of La Crosse boys, victims of Bell.

Feeling against the man ran high
at the time of his conviction, November 28, 1914, and Carl Kurtenacker, now assemblyman from this district, now has a bill pending before the legislature making Bell's crime a penitentiary offense.

SWANS ENTERTAIN WAITING AUDIENCE

The big white swans at the Majestic entertained the people Sunday afternoon. The films were late and did not arrive until 2:30, but the house was packed and many were the exclamations of surprise at the beauty of the swans, as well as the laughs for their awkwardness out of water.

Little Jane Lee, cleverest of child actresses, scored a big hit when the pictures eventually arrived. Mile.
Theda Bara was even better liked
than in "A Fool There Was." Wm.
Shay, Stuart Holmes, in fact the whole cast of "The Clemenceau Case" was especially good. Last evening hundreds of people were turned away, as great crowds were
at the Majestic from early until late.
"The Clemenceau Case" will be at the Majestic for today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

BIG SLAV WARSHIP IS REPORTED SUNK

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville,
May 24.—The Russian man-of-war
Wintelemon sank in the Black sea
with a loss of 1,400 lives, according to dispatches received here today
from Bucharest.

The latest naval records show no
Russian vessel named the Wintelemon.
It is possible that the Bucharest dispatch meant the Russian battle-ship Pantelimen, one of the largest of the Russian warships in the Black sea fleet.

KAISER IN FAREWELL TO ITALIAN ENVOY

Paper Covers a Protection.

Undeniably, paper covers are of some aid in preserving the fresh appearance of books, but neither the appearance nor the feeling of a covered book is agreeable. Still, for those who have no objection to them, covers are a good thing. Nothing is better than ordinary brown paper, except in some unusual cases, as, for example, the book cover, which, as every good housekeeper knows, should be covered with oilcloth.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 24.—The stock market opened strong with standard railroad issues taking the lead. Reading opened 1/4 higher; Union Pacific up 1/4; Erie up 1/4 and Southern Pacific up 1/4. Bethlehem Steel was up two points and Steel 1/4 higher.

The market continued active during the first hour. Heavy realizing sales were met with on the opening advances, but the selling was readily absorbed. Attention centered in the industrials. Prices held up well.

A raid on the market in the second hour drove prices down somewhat. The market met with strong support at noon and prices showed recovery from the loss for the day. Bethlehem Steel fell to 136 after selling early in the day.

The stock market took on a waiting attitude in the early afternoon. Union Pacific was about the only big issue to show strength. Copper shares were firm.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Baby Moose
In the Big Dark Woods.

"THE baby moose lived in the big dark woods," said daddy; "but, you see, he was just as well satisfied and a good deal better than he would have been in a cage in the zoo, for there was bright sunshine all about him and the blue sky overhead." Daddy was beginning the evening story.

"He was the homeliest little fellow you ever saw, but he looked pretty to his mother, like all babies. He had a couple of funny little bumps on his forehead, where a pair of big spread eagle horns would come later, and he had a great, big, fat hump nose. His nose was so big that when you looked into his face you couldn't see very much of it but nose. He had a pair of dark and rolling eyes, and he was all covered with rough, coarse hair, with a funny little short tail behind. Oh, he was a funny baby moose, all right, and so homely that it was a shame!

"But what did the baby moose care? He was homely, to be sure, but he looked pretty to his mother. He followed her about all day through the deep dark woods on four spindly, sprawly, scrawny legs that looked as if they would separate and let him right down on the ground every minute. But they didn't, and he just wobbled along somehow, following his mother through the deep dark woods.

"Moose are rather rude, rough animals, not at all the kind that feed on candy and popcorn. This little moose went around with his mamma browsing on the tender shoots of young trees mostly—that is, after he had grown some big ugly teeth so as to chew solid food. And this fare tasted just as good to him as sweetmeats do to you, Jack and Evelyn.

"These big dark woods where the baby moose and his mother lived were up in the state of Maine. There were miles and miles of the woods to ramble through, and the little moose when he grew to be a big moose lived a happy and contented life there.

"He used to stand on the shore of a great lake and bellow across the water, and you could hear the call for miles and miles. And then the bumps on his forehead had given place to great big horns, and he was so big—well, you wouldn't have wanted to meet him in the woods.

"Then one day, one sad, sad day, a being walking on two legs and carrying a long black 'something' in his hands came along. He pointed that long black 'something,' which was a gun, we know, at Mr. Moose. Bang! went the gun. Down went Mr. Moose. And now his big spread eagle horns adorn the wall of a famous hunting lodge up in the Maine woods."

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have been prescribing it constantly for 20 years. Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

CLEARs BLOTCHY SKIN

Try resinol soap for a week. You will be surprised to see how it clears and freshens your complexion, even in that short time. Used for the shampoo, it removes dandruff and keeps the hair live, rich and lustrous. This is because it contains the soothing, healing resinol medication.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A MATTER OF BUSINESS

BY OLIVE MABIE

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The three girls looked at the lawyer in frightened disbelief.

It could not be possible that their father's fortune had been such a hollow mockery. How had they lived all these years in such quiet comfort?

"It was the nature of his business," explained Mr. Ames; "a broker never really knows whether he is a rich man or a pauper. Your father was undertaking a big coup when his illness and death put a finish to everything. He was on the wrong side of the market when he was stricken. There will be nothing left for you except the place in the country—your mother's old home."

"But that is only a house and furniture. How can we earn our bread and butter?" asked Kitty.

"We might take summer boarders," suggested Dorothy gravely.

"That isn't a bad idea," said Mr. Ames. "I'll send you all the people I can. Can any of you cook?"

"I can," said Dorothy proudly. "I have taken a prize at cooking school."

"You will need a big strong woman," said the lawyer. "Keep up a good table and the money problem will take care of itself."

June found the Henderson girls settled in the old house in which they had been born. Keziah Lake, a distant cousin of their mother's and a famous housewife, reigned in the great kitchen. The other household duties were divided among the three girls. Lillian was business manager and attended to the living room. Kitty was waitress and Dorothy, with the assistance of a small colored girl, was chambermaid.

The mountains, with their many attractions, brought a houseful of guests. The unaccustomed work was not without some hardships for three girls who had never spent a summer in other than self-amusement, but the fact that they were making a financial success of it sustained them admirably.

Old village friends called upon them and, to Cousin Keziah's great satisfaction, several young men were attracted to the Henderson house. Tom Bixby, Walter Mott and Paul Clarkson had all been to the village school with the Henderson girls. After James Henderson had moved to the city and had become rich, the little mountain village had not seen his daughters until now they returned to it to begin life all over again.

Lillian Henderson, the eldest sister, was ambitious. She had determined that her sisters, as well as herself, should improve their fortunes by good marriages. And with that end in view she discouraged the attentions of the village doctor and his two friends, who were law partners.

"I thought you liked Dr. Mott," observed Kitty when Lillian delivered her ultimatum.

"I do, dear, but we must think about practical matters. We should marry well," she returned decidedly.

"You mean marry for money?"

For answer Lillian took one of her sister's rough little fingers and stroked it suggestively.

"I wouldn't mind working hard for a man I liked," declared Kitty, stoutly, and Dorothy added, "I don't suppose a real man would mind our hands if they were red and coarsened by honest toil!"

"I didn't mean that, dears," cried Lillian sharply, "but I am afraid you will miss all the things we have been accustomed to. You know, Dorothy, dear, that since Harry Blake has followed you here—if of course it would be perfectly fine if you could love him well enough with all his money."

"My word!" mocked Kitty. "Does that mean that you are going to accept old Mr. Allison?"

Lillian whined, but she nodded.

From the lawn tennis courts came a man's jolly laugh.

Kitty looked embarrassed. She knew that her sisters wondered if she was going to accept Lester Marshall, whose sister had been their first guest.

Marshall was young and handsome and rich, and he made no secret of his devotion to charming Kitty.

"I suppose I would be foolish to let such an opportunity pass," laughed Kitty, oddly. "Well, girls, we might have a triple wedding in October and announce to our friends that our business had been a very profitable venture!" As she ran from the room her sisters caught the flash of tears in her brave eyes.

There was a strained look in Lillian's face as the days went by. Mr. Allison was becoming more marked in his devotion; any day, now, the old financier might make a declaration of his love.

Keziah's cooking had made the Henderson place noted for its chickens and waffles, and many motor tourists stopped there to partake of its hospitality.

Dr. Mott and his friends tactfully eliminated themselves from the company of the busy old house. Perhaps, through talkative Keziah, they had heard of the three city men who were wooing the Henderson girls.

Summer waned and Labor day passed, and with its passing went the last summer guest. The great barn, which had served as a garage, was empty again save for Piper, the pie-bald pony.

Keziah had gone back to open her own tiny cottage, and for the first

WILSON'S SECOND GRANDCHILD IS EIGHT POUND GIRL

Miss Ellen Wilson McAdoo Is Born Friday Evening; Granddaddy Says Her Lungs Are Fine

WASHINGTON, May 22.—On his way to the golf links, "Grandpa" Wilson stopped today at the residence of his son-in-law, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo for another look at his first grand-daughter, Ellen Wilson McAdoo, born at 9:15 p. m. Friday. The president has already confided to intimates that the baby has "a fine pair of lungs." The child weighed eight pounds. Doctors say she and her mother are in splendid condition. The name was selected as soon as it was known the infant was a girl. She will be christened after the late Mrs. Wilson, who died in August.

Most Glowing.

An old man attended a public funeral in honor of an American statesman a few years ago. In describing it to a Boston friend, a close relative, he said enthusiastically: "Jim, it was grand. It was the most glowing paragraph of words I have ever had 'casual' to listen to!"

OUR TROOPS AT VERA CRUZ LACKED MOTOR VANS SAYS SHEPARD

(BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
(Copyright, 1915, by the United Press. Copyright in Great Britain.)
HEADQUARTERS OF THE BRITISH ARMY, NORTHERN FRANCE, April 21.—(By Mail to New York.)—A year ago I was with the American army at Vera Cruz and though conditions there were highly different from those prevailing here, nevertheless, the opportunity for measuring the American army by what I see of the British army is too obvious to overlook.

The first thing that strikes me is how we seem to have underestimated gasoline transport. There was not a single automobile transport on the boats which brought General Funston's troops to Vera Cruz. True enough, the roads in the Vera Cruz district were jungle paths, but miles of roads have been built in Europe since the war began, solely for military transport services, as our men could have built them if the need arose.

Funston's men would have marched and marched, day after day, perhaps ten miles, perhaps, in a stretch, twenty, while here with the British army I am daily seeing armies as large as Gen. Funston's moved in a single convoy as great a distance as twenty miles an hour, and put down at the end of their destination as fresh as when they got up in the morning.

Huerta Had Transports

The thing that strikes me now is that Gen. Huerta's Mexican army did have motor transports. Their great lorries dashed about the capital and in the mountain roads, ready, every where. I suppose some of their armored fighting cars were of the Mexican officers who had been trained in the military schools of Europe had picked up the idea of military auto transports.

This is not meant to say that the American army is without gasoline land transports. Perhaps the "war experts" in Mexico who advised the war department as to conditions there gave ill advice. However, the fact remains that Gen. Funston was sent to Vera Cruz without gasoline transports, and the Mexicans had automobile transports that were fitted for Mexican roads.

British Lack Mules

Returning to the comparison between the British and the Vera Cruz American army, the lack of mules is noticeable with the British. The great Missouri jacks that outlast a horse and follow, like cows or sheep, the tinkling bell of their leader, are only beginning to be enlisted in the British army. The British have plenty of horses. In fact their army affords one great and splendid horse show of beautiful animals that have been developed through their system of racing. American horses are not an uncommon sight, however, but they've got half brothers at home, in Missouri, who would have stood the journey over here just as well as they did and would have done half again as much work in the mud of Flanders.

Flemish Horses Lack Nerve

The great Flanders horses, famous throughout the world, are beautiful and strong, "but they haven't nerve," said an English army hostler. "When they get sick they give up the fight and lay down and die, right there." This is a complaint that has never been heard against the army mule, who is likely to kick a man to death while he's dying. On the whole, the Missouri mule ought to be a proud possession of the American army, even though he is not so speedy as gasoline.

Gen. Funston took plenty of them to Vera Cruz together with the big army wagons that the American army mule flirts around with.

British Develop Aeroplanes

The flying men with Gen. Funston at Vera Cruz belonged to the navy, not to the army. No one in the army flying corps had any chance for practice under war conditions in Vera Cruz. There was no spot where the Mexican seaport where a land machine could have alighted and, of necessity, the work was all done by the water machines. In the British army war flying has been brought to its highest efficiency. In peace times the Britishers were not going out for long distance records, like the Germans, or for fancy flying; they were quietly developing flying as a war time talent. And the results are now apparent.

If the American flying man wants to equal his British brother, he must be ready to climb into the air in any wind. Snow, rain, hail and even darkness must not stop him. There is a world of difference between those hot summer days at Fort Meyer, in 1908, when the Wrights were showing their machine to the American army officials and wouldn't go into the sky until all the flags were hanging limp in a windless air, and these war days of 1915, when an English flying man flies in tornadoes. If necessary, there is only one sort of a day on which the flying men do not ascend and that is the day on which the clouds hang low.

Dislike Cloudy Day

This was illustrated the other day when an officer of an anti-aircraft gun sent a shell into the sky to show me how the gun worked. We couldn't see the shell burst, whereupon he ordered a shell sent to burst at 500 feet above the ground. We looked into the sky expecting to see a flash, but there was none. The explosion was hidden by the clouds, which were less than 500 feet above us. An aeroplane man at a greater height than 500 feet on a day like this could see nothing below him and, if he did come down below the clouds, he would present an unmissable target to rifles and aircraft guns.

There were no days at Vera Cruz when the weather prevented our navy air men from flying and it is safe to say that our army air men, few as they may be, are equally expert.

British Great Map Makers

In map-making, the British army excels. There are field kits for map-makers by which small maps can be turned out rapidly; even colored maps can be made in the fighting zone. These maps show even the positions of scattered houses, as well as bridges, wind mills and hay stacks, and they are so plentiful that even the non-commissioned officers may possess them. How well Mexico is mapped in the war department at Washington, no one but the experts know, but there were no map-making kits visible at Vera Cruz, and the only maps were those that were laboriously patched out from existing railroad maps and others.

It is not possible, however, or fair to draw the comparison too closely between this British army in the field and the forces which Gen. Funston brought to Vera Cruz. Gen. Funston's force was intended for occupation only and not necessarily for advance, while this British army is outfitted and prepared to proceed to Germany.

IMPORTANT FIGURES IN PORTUGAL CRISIS

President Arriaga (top) and Dr. Alfonso Costa.

These men figure prominently in the present crisis in Portugal. President Arriaga is proving unequal to the task of keeping peace in the little republic. Dr. Costa is ex-premier of Portugal and the leader of an important faction. It is now believed that the shots which were recently fired at Senor Chagas, the new premier, were really intended for Costa.

VERDICT FOR T. R. RETURNED TODAY

Barnes Is a Boss Decide the Twelve Men Who Exonerate Colonel of the Libel Charge

THOUGHT JURY WOULD DISAGREE

One Juror Who Held Out for Barnes Yesterday Was Expected to Stick

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 22.—William Barnes is a "boss," a jury so decided today in awarding a verdict for Colonel Roosevelt in the $50,000 libel suit brought against the former president by Barnes, because Roosevelt branded him a "boss" and linked him politically with crooked business and corruption.

The verdict was brought in shortly after 10 a. m. today. The jury had been deliberating since 3:45 p. m. Thursday—a period of about forty-two hours.

The verdict was a blow to Barnes and a complete surprise to Colonel Roosevelt. It was the common belief around the courtroom that the jury would report its utter failure to agree, and be discharged by Justice Andrews today. It was believed that Edward Burns, the Syracuse motorman, who first voted for Col. Roosevelt yesterday and then reversed his vote because the court would not permit the jury to divide the costs, would hold out for the plaintiff until the end.

Burns' demeanor when the jury left the courthouse late yesterday to go to the jail for the night confirmed this belief. He strode along unaccompanied by his fellow jurors, his jaws firmly set, and with an appearance of defiance.

The foreman's announcement that the jury had decided unanimously for Roosevelt, therefore, struck the Barnes camp a stunning blow. William Wolff, of Barnes' counsel, declared the verdict improper since the jury was polled yesterday and returned a verdict of eleven for Roosevelt and one against.

Justice Andrews overruled the objection.

The colonel could not restrain his joy. He made a short speech to the jurors, expressing his thanks, and posed for a picture taken in the jury room.

NEW YORK, May 22.—"The knowledge of the complete rectitude of my conduct must content me—which after all is the only important thing in life."

So declared a formal statement from William Barnes, issued through his counsel, William Irvin today, in commenting on the failure of his libel suit at Syracuse, against Theodore Roosevelt.

line of Berlin street, to the West line of Prospect street.

The work amounts to approximately the following mentioned quantities—4140 square yards of asphalt macadam.

Work shall be commenced forthwith and the whole work shall be completed on or before the 1st day of July, 1915, failing in which, the contractors shall pay to the city of La Crosse the sum of $10.00 per day thereafter that said work remains uncompleted.

Directions to Bidders
Each bidder must accompany his bid and proposal with a contract, with not less than two sureties, who shall be freeholders of the state of Wisconsin, and shall justify as to their responsibility, and by their several affidavits show that they are worth the sum of one thousand one hundred ($1,100.00) dollars in property not by law exempt from execution. Surety companies approved by the board of public works of said city will be accepted in lieu of personal sureties. Said contract with sureties must be completely executed on the part of the contract with the exception of the signature on the part of the city. (This is a positive requirement of the charter and must be complied with). Bids failing to comply with the foregoing requirements will not be considered.

Bidders must submit proposals to do the work according to the plans and specifications upon blanks furnished them by the board of public works, stating therein the price for which they propose to do the work at a lump sum price for such material and doing said entire work, as described in said plans and specifications, but no proposals will be received upon any other material than that mentioned in the specifications, and said proposals, if accepted, shall constitute a part of the contract.

N. B.—Blanks for proposals and blank contracts will be furnished on application to the city clerk, board of public works or the city engineer. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN VOLLMAR,
FRED SCHNELL,
CARL HANSON.

NEW CABINET IN ENGLAND ALMOST COMPLETED TODAY

Reported Lord Lansdowne Will Re-enter Government; Will Churchill and "K" Remain?

LONDON, May 22.—The new coalition cabinet that is to unite all parties in England in prosecution of the war, is virtually completed. Following conferences with a number of leaders, Premier Asquith went to Buckingham palace today. It was reported that he submitted a tentative list of new ministers to King George.

The newspapers today devoted columns to speculation concerning its makeup. They agreed that Lloyd George is to be retained and that Bonar Law, unionist leader, are to be given portfolios. Several newspapers announced positively that Lord Lansdowne will re-enter the cabinet. There was a marked division of opinion as to whether Lord Kitchener and Winston Churchill are to be retained.
